China Plans to Stay Secret

ON THE CITY SIDE—The Dixon Jaycees pinned a new award on their club lapel this week. Their sponsorship of the Town and Country club has brought them title of the outstanding Jaycees chapter in the state for the month of January.

The city-rural organization was established with the declared purpose of giving Dixon and its area residents an opportunity to become better acquainted and thereby more sympathetic to each others problems.

Membership is open both to city and rural residents, thus paving the way for anybody to join. Word from Jaycee Tom Bemis lists speakers at future meetings as Ivan E. Bennett, vice president of the Livestock National bank of Chicago, and H. J. Gramlich, agricultural agent for the C & NW railroad.

Tuesday night James Bales, Lee county state's attorney, will appear before the group to discuss juvenile delinquency.

FROM THE NEIGHBORS—An Amboy resident shot us a reply this morning to courthouse rumblings reported here yesterday concerning selection of a new county treasurer Thursday by the county board of supervisors.

Writes Edward A. Blake:

"In regard to Albert Hillison winning county treasurer post—Mr. Hillison is one of the best bookkeepers in Lee county.

"Mr. Hillison is handicapped and cannot do manual labor, but he can and will fill that post and be a good county treasurer. As far as steamrolling into the office—I cannot see it that way.

"PUT DIXON in the place that Amboy is in. What if the courthouse was in Amboy. I ask you—wouldn't Dixon want some representation? After all, we pay taxes down this way the same as you do in Dixon. We also help keep the courthouse going, so we should have someone from Amboy up there.

"We all like to win, but win or lose, we had better take it like sports instead of jumping at conclusions and not forget how the voting was done.

"Our supervisors' board has as much right to vote secret as we do when we vote for a public official. That is one thing that we should all be proud of.

"Here's for more harmony between Amboy and Dixon."

OUR NOTE:

We heard no opinions that the new treasurer will not make a "good" county treasurer. The point whether he will prove to be anything but integral was never challenged, as far as this writer knows.

Reports that did reach us dealt with comparisons of extent of previous experience held by the four candidates for the post, in which the new treasurer trailed the three candidates from Dixon.

THE STATE senate is eyeing a bill co-sponsored this week by Sen. Dennis J. Collins, of the local congressional district, giving the sick and disabled the right to vote by absentee ballot.

Sen. Collins informs us that the necessary provisions for their absentee voting would be a certificate by a licensed physician or accredited practitioner of Christian Science. The application would be made to a county clerk.

Penalty for false application would be a perjury charge with a penalty of from one to 14 years imprisonment.

WEEKEND NOTE—Tomorrow is Boy Scout Sunday. Here in Dixon it will be observed by local Scouts attending special services at 10:30 a.m. in the Methodist church. They'll be there in uniform.

Ike Powers Get Confidence Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has a congressional vote of confidence today in the form of broad powers to carry out his promised streamlining of government.

With a shout of approval, the Senate late Friday approved a two-year extension to April 1, 1955, of the exact government-revamping powers held by ex-President Truman. The bill, approved earlier this week by the House, goes now to Eisenhower's desk for signature.

Dixon Two-Year-Old Killed Under Tractor

John Topper, Rt. 4, Fatally Hurt Today

BULLETIN

A 2-year-old boy was killed early today when he fell under the wheels of a tractor driven by his father on a farm south of Dixon.

John Garfield Topper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Topper, Rt. 4, Dixon, died at 10 a.m. this morning at the KSB hospital from injuries received when he fell from his father's tractor and was crushed beneath its wheels.

According to Coroner Robert Preston, Lee county, the child died while doctors worked to save his life.

An inquest into the cause of the infant's death will be conducted Sunday, Preston said.

Funeral services will be held on Monday at 2 p.m. at the Preston funeral home. The Rev. T. S. Green, St. Patrick's church, will officiate. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery.

Survivors include the child's parents; one sister, Sandra; one brother, James; paternal grandmother, Mrs. Edna Topper, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Tooley, Dixon.

Police Order Hard Effort After Blast

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Members of the police arson squad are under orders to "leave no stone unturned" in an effort to find the persons responsible for the bombing Thursday night of the home of Thomas F. Callanan, former sheriff and Democratic faction leader.

The order came from I. A. Long, president of the new Board of Police Commissioners who Friday described the bombing as an outrage.

The 53-year-old Callanan, a possible candidate for the Democratic nomination for mayor of St. Louis, and his wife were in the home when an explosion under a back porch shattered windows in the house and nearby buildings. Neither was hurt.

Callanan said he had no idea who set off the blast.

Regarded as one of the city's most powerful politicians until he was defeated for renomination for sheriff last August, Callanan recently was appointed by his brother to a $150-a-week post with the AFL Steamfitters Union. The brother, Lawrence Callanan, is business manager of Local 562 of the union.

Bideault Offers Plan for France in Europe's Army

PARIS (AP)—Foreign Minister Georges Bidault placed before the cabinet today a series of protocols, or amendments, to the European Army Treaty designed to make it so acceptable to French parliamentary opinion that a favorable vote could be obtained soon.

No official outline of the protocols was given but they were known to provide, among other things, the following:

1. That French divisions needed for use in the French Union outside continental France could be withdrawn temporarily from the European Army without waiting for consent of the other five countries.

2. That France be permitted to manufacture and export munitions to its overseas possessions without EDC (European Defense Community) control.

3. That French officers may be rotated between French units in the European Army and units sta-

U. S. Shaping Call for UN Aid in Korea

Action Part of Ike Plan to End War in Battered Land

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.

(AP)—The United States today was reported shaping up an emphatic call on its U. N. allies for more help in Korea.

Diplomatic sources here familiar with U. S. policy indicated such a move would be part of the new grand strategy being worked out by the Eisenhower administration for ending the Korean conflict.

The reports circulated here shortly after the U. N. released a survey that declared a quick $1,750,000,000 aid and investment program were necessary to save war-ravaged South Korea.

There also were indications that diplomatic experts were studying a possible blockade of Red China. Some sources said, however, there was little chance of such a move although there might be a widening of economic restrictions now in effect.

Five Murder Attempts Fail In Triangle

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A young college science student—on the short end of a love triangle—was booked today on suspicion of trying to poison the husband of the girl he lost.

Moreover, sheriff's investigators quoted Richard C. La Force, 19, as saying he tried five times to administer poison to his former classmate, Robert P. Hayden, 19, in the last two months.

La Force, a physics major at California Institute of Technology, said he put either arsenic, cyanide, potassium cyanide or arsenic trioxide in liquids that Hayden might drink, Sgt. Bert Wood and Det. A. S. Martin reported. They quoted La Force:

"I always wanted Joyce, Hayden's wife, . . . for my wife. I've loved her since the sixth grade."

The two officers, alerted by the young wife, who is also 19, said they caught La Force putting an arsenic compound in a water bottle in the Hayden's refrigerator Friday night.

They said Mrs. Hayden became suspicious after surprising La Force at the refrigerator last week.

Death of Controls Brings Mostly Applause to Ike

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation was shifting back to a free-market economy today amid predictions there will be little immediate change in living costs.

MERCHANTS across the nation generally applauded President Eisenhower's orders lifting many government controls. They said consumer prices won't change much.

More To Be Canceled Eisenhower, carrying out a pledge he made last Monday to Congress, junked all wage controls Friday and took a big first step in pulling away curbs on prices. More price ceilings are to be canceled gradually until all are out of the way by April 30.

Among thousands of items removed from price control on Eisenhower's orders are all meat, clothing, furniture, restaurant meals, bar and tavern drinks, and virtually all articles sold in department stores.

Controls remain for the time being on such things as milk, bread, cigarettes, cosmetics, and large household appliances such as stoves and refrigerators. But these may be included in another big decontrol package due next week.

Businessmen queried by The Associated Press in a 20-city survey said generally they can keep prices down to about where they are now unless materials and labor costs increase. Some economists have continued to predict price rises costing as much as a billion dollars in the next six months.

Some Express Fears In the other direction, sagging beef cattle and other farm product prices have caused fears of recession to be voiced in Congress.

Labor union chiefs, who had backed the controls during former President Truman's administration, said freeing wages from government control meant a return to free collective bargaining.

Controls have been controversial ever since they were imposed by the Truman administration in January, 1951. They were credited by some with retarding the post-Korean inflationary spurt. But many businessmen and economists have called for their removal for some time as no longer necessary.

The President will have authority until April 30 to restore controls if inflation breaks out.

He told Congress, too, he will ask for new control authority if the need arises after April 30, when the present control authority is due to expire.

Dulles, Believed Buoyed by Findings, Reaches Belgium

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—John Foster Dulles arrived in Belgium today to continue his survey of European defense planning—buoyed by finding that West Europe's leaders generally believe a common army offers the most effective guarantee of peace and security.

President Eisenhower's big four-motored plane brought the U. S. secretary of state and American Foreign Aid Chief Harold Stassen here after a brief flight from flood-devastated Holland.

The two American leaders were welcomed by Belgian Foreign Minister Paul Van Zeeland, U. S. Ambassador Myron T. Cowen and other Belgian and American officials.

In a departing statement before he left Holland, Dulles told newsmen that he and Stassen "have been encouraged to find that here, as well as in the other capitals we have visited, the concept of a European Defense Community within the framework of the Atlantic community is regarded by your leaders and your people, as it is by ours, as the most effective way to ensure peace and security for us all."

The secretary's seven-nation tour of key West European capitals was planned to spur action on the lagging European army plan. He thus far has visited Rome, Paris, London, Bonn and The Hague and plans to continue on Sunday to Luxembourg before returning to Washington.

U. S. Jets Nail Two Red MIGs In Air Battle

SEOUL (AP)—American Sabre jet pilots, outnumbered 14 to 8, shot down two Red MIGs today over MIG Alley in far Northwest Korea, the U. S. Fifth Air Force said. Allied fighter-bombers roared over North Korea and pounded frontline positions, a rail line and supply concentrations.

The Air Force said that during the past week its pilots shot down two MIGs, probably destroyed one and damaged three.

Three Allied planes were lost, but none were Sabres.

Lt. Gen. Maxwell Taylor toured the Korean battle front for the first time today, accompanied by Gen. James A. Van Fleet, retiring Eighth Army Commander. Van Fleet bade farewell to the multi-national army he had headed for nearly 22 months. Taylor officially takes over Wednesday.

On the ground, three Allied patrols clashed with Red units as large as 75 men in fierce no-man's-land skirmishes lasting up to an hour.

One fight was near the Mundung Valley on the Eastern Front, another northeast of the Punch Bowl on the Eastern Front, and the third was on the Western Front, north of The Hook.

Douglas in New Attack On Tidelands

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) in a new attack on legislation to give states title to offshore oil lands, asserted the proposal would "take away at least 40 billion dollars of oil resources which now belong to the people of the 48 states and give them to only three states."

In a speech recorded for radio broadcast in Illinois, Douglas urged instead legislation that would "stop the oil-grab and use the money to better the plight of our schools and teachers."

He said the "oil for education" idea is in line with the land grant college policy first fostered by Illinoisans.

"There is nothing new in devoting the natural resources of this country to developing the human resources," the senator said. "It's a good thing to do in itself."

"But as an alternative to making an outright gift of 40 billion dollars, when the federal government has a debt of over a quarter of a trillion dollars, it is absolutely imperative."

Most of the offshore oil deposits lie off the coasts of Texas, Louisiana and California.

Russia Hurls New Political Propaganda

BANDONEING, Indonesia (AP)—Russia accused the United States and Britain today of using economic aid and capital investments in Asia as "a means of robbing these countries."

The attack on American policies was made at the Economic Conference for Asia and the Far East (ECAFE), and is likely to turn the meeting into another East-West political row.

Russia's S. S. Nemtchina introduced a resolution blaming low Asian living standards on "lengthy domination in these countries of foreign monopolies."

"Pure propaganda," was the reaction of American delegates.

Earlier in the day, Merrill C. Gay of the United States said America's "phenomenal increase in production" would aid Asian countries but refrained from any attacks on Russia or Red China.

Nemtchina, former Soviet ambassador to Thailand, praised what he called economic progress in Red China under the Communist system in his blast at the U. S. and Britain.

Francis Spellman Jr. Found Not Guilty in Fraud Charge

OREGON (Special)—Francis Spellman, jr., 33, was found not guilty Friday of issuing a worthless check to Alvin Conrad, Rochelle farmer, after four and a half hours of deliberation by a circuit jury here.

The case went to the jury at 5:30 p.m. Friday, following final arguments and rebuttal. Decision was reached at 8 p.m.

The State's Attorney Wayne Bettner had charged that $16,000 worth of bad checks issued by the defendant turned up during the same week in July in which Spellman issued the alleged worthless check to Conrad.

Spellman testified that he anticipated having bank credit to cover the bad check given to Conrad.

According to the defendant's testimony, Spellman said that he had carloads of corn worth $18,000 scheduled to arrive at his feed and grain company, but which were delayed in transit and later attached.

In writing the Conrad check, Spellman testified that he would have had bank credit on the corn to cover the amount.

Spellman, former president and general manager of the bankrupt Spellman Feed and Grain company, Rochelle, was indicted last September by an Ogle county grand jury on four counts of issuing bad checks amounting to $14,820.83.

Last December, he was placed on probation for five years for converting government grain to his own use. Federal Judge Sam Perry ordered him to spend 24 hours a week in Stephenson county jail, Freeport, for two and a half years.

Will United States Back Nationalists' Raids? Demos Ask

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration stood pat today against Democratic demands for a public accounting of how much, if at all, the U. S. will back up any Nationalist raids on Red China.

But GOP leaders promised Democratic members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee conditional answers to some of their questions when Secretary of State Dulles returns from Europe.

GOP Is Solid

Administration supporters lined up solidly behind Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) who told the Senate Friday that it would be "the height of folly" for the U. S. to tip its hand now on Far Eastern moves.

Knowland, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, rejected a demand by Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) that President Eisenhower tell the country what steps and consequences may follow his order lifting Seventh Fleet restrictions against mainland raids by the Nationalists.

In his State of the Union message last Monday, Eisenhower said he would no longer require the U. S. Seventh Fleet to "shield" the Red-held China mainland from attacks by Nationalists on Formosa.

Sparkman demanded: "Is this the first step toward involving United States forces on the mainland in China? Is it the first step toward more casualties, instead of less? Is it the first step toward global war?"

Chairman Wiley (R-Wis.) of the foreign relations committee said that, when former President Truman ordered Formosa neutralized in late 1950, Red China had not yet entered the Korean War. Once the Reds got in, he said, the fleet "acted as a barrier" to protect the mainland.

Others Join Sparkman was joined in the Senate debate by Senators Lehman (D-Lib-NY), Kerr (D-Okl.), Fulbright (D-Ark.), Douglas (D-Ill.), Monroney (D-Okl.) and Gillette (D-Iowa).

Knowland, taking note of this, observed:

"I don't know if this is concerted policy on the part of the Democrats to embarrass the new administration."

Sparkman insisted that he was not criticizing Eisenhower's action in freeing the Nationalists to make raids on Red China. He said he believed such a development was "inevitable."

But he said Eisenhower had left unanswered by his bare announcement many questions that bore on "the dread possibility of an enlarged war—perhaps exploding into a global war."

Advocate Pay Hike For Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Federation of government Employees (AFL) today advocated a pay increase for members of Congress to $20,000 a year.

The senators and representatives now receive $12,500 and a $2,500 expense account.

The government employees' union also went on record, through its National Executive Council, in favor of pay increases for legislative staffs of Congress.

Set Monday Night for Johnies Garage Big Show at Lee Center

Movies in color, one of them on Yugoslavia, which recently broke its bonds with Russia, will be featured on a program to be given Monday, Feb. 9, in Lee Center High School gym and sponsored by Johnies Garage of Lee Center. Four films in all will be shown, two feature films and two travelog shorts, one on Paris and one on the Alpine country where Mozart, the Austrian composer, was born.

The film on Yugoslavia, entitled "The Crack in the Iron Curtain," was filmed this past summer with special permission of Marshall Tito. It shows what progress the people of this country are making on their farms and in their factories after breaking ties with Russia.

The other feature film is entitled "Rivers and the Soil" and is the story of some of the principal rivers of America. It shows the part rivers play in developing particularly the agricultural resources of a nation. It includes colorful scenes of places historically and semically interesting along such rivers as the Mississippi, the Missouri, the Ohio, the Arkansas, the Rio Grande, the Colorado, the Columbia, the Hudson and the Potomac.

The program is scheduled to start at 7:00 p. m., it was announced by F. L. Jahn, owner of Johnies Garage. He added that the program will also include coffee and doughnuts, musical entertainment between movies, and an old-fashioned square dance. —Adv

A Burglar Alarm Plan For Homes

A simple and reliable burglar alarm system for a home is easy for the handy man to design and install.

Push button switches of the type used on refrigerator and closet doors to turn on a light when the door is opened are installed in door jambs and window frames. As soon as a door or window is opened, these buttons are released making a contact to sound the alarm.

A door bell is used for the alarm. Since door bells operate on low voltage, which can be supplied by batteries, ordinary insulated bell cord is sufficient for wiring and involves no fire hazard.

A shut off switch is used to cut off the alarm system in the daytime when windows and doors will be opened by members of the household. This shut off switch should be located well away from the protected windows or doors and all wiring should be concealed as carefully as possible.

It also is wise to camouflage the push buttons in window and door frames by painting them the same color as the woodwork. This will make them less easily noticed when windows and doors are open. Test the system periodically and replace batteries before they die out merely because of age.

Evergreen Garden Gives You Year-Round Landscaping Fun

By HENRY FREE

The gardener who would like to have more than a bare yard and calloused hands to remind himself of summer beauty, might borrow an idea from his colonial ancestors, and plant an evergreen garden. This is the suggestion of Alden Hopkins, landscape architect for Colonial Williamsburg, Va. Hopkins has, for the past nine years, supervised restoration of the historic city's 18th Century gardens.

The 18th Century Virginia garden was predominantly a green affair, full of boxwood, holly, hemlock, cedar, magnolia and live oak. In spring and early summer it was colorful with the blooms of annuals and perennials but even after the flowers faded it was still a lush garden with its design permanently fixed in evergreens. It had flowers in season but it didn't depend on them.

By restoring the 18th Century "green" gardens, Hopkins and his associates have produced year-round showplaces in a climate where frost comes early in November. There are no special tricks for keeping gardens beautiful in the middle of winter. Just use evergreens as the colonists did.

How you use evergreens, however, is important. Hopkins points out, "Don't scatter them about aimlessly or they won't do very much for your garden. Just like flowers, they should always be planted according to some plan or design."

The plan is completely up to you, the landscape architect says. Evergreens grow in all shapes and sizes, from little low ivy to stately live oak, and permit almost endless garden variety.

They can be used for patterns, edgings, backgrounds, screens, accents, ground covers and, in the case of plants like magnolia or azalea, even for colorful springtime flowers.

Evergreens have still other virtues. They flourish equally well in northern and southern exposures, keep the ground cooler in summer and provide a windbreak for winter. They are also easier to grow than flowers in a hot climate, and that's why the Virginia colonists used them so much.

Evergreen gardens are ideal for people who like to do things the easy way. Not that they are work-free, because they must be kept neat and they require trimming, pruning, watering and other care. But they do away with the mess made by dead flower heads and they can be left untended for several weeks without going to wrack and ruin.

Best of all, once they're planted they stay, and that means you can give your back some rest the following year.

THERMOMETER CAN'T KEEP YOU VERY WARM

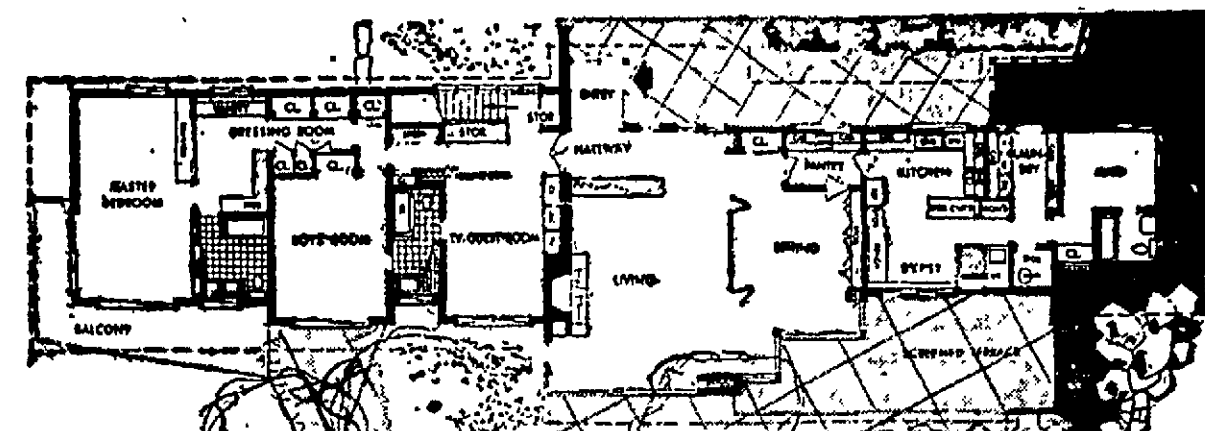

Ever wonder why a living room can seem comfortable at 70 degrees in summer, but too cool at the same temperature on cold winter days?

The explanation lies in your own body and not in the house, say the experts. One reason is that lower winter humidities speed evaporation on the skin surface, producing a cooling effect. Another is that your body loses heat more rapidly when it "absorbs" chill from cold walls, windows and doors. This is the process of radiation—body heat being radiated to surrounding cold objects.

For greatest comfort, set a thermostat for whatever temperature satisfies you, rather than at any arbitrary point which someone else calls healthful.

FLAT PAINT RADIATES

When painting radiators or exposed hot water or steam risers used partly for heat in bathrooms, you can get more heat through flat paint than through a glossy surfaced coating. Metallic finishes such as gilt or aluminum paint transmit the least heat.

This is the floor plan for "The Pace Setter House of 1953," located at Bronxville, New York. The subject of more than 60 pages of text and illustration in the November issue of House Beautiful magazine, the Pace Setter is built on a true East-West line so that the main windows of its living quarters face South. Main points in the plan include: correct, year-round orientation to the sun and winds; segregation of private rooms from public and service areas; through-ventilation in 7 rooms; six places for outdoor living for six kinds of weather conditions; and direct access to terraces from six rooms. Not shown in this view is a partial lower floor, built under the master bedroom and boys room, and containing a family entertainment room, the heater room, and space for a future bath.

Leaky Roofs Cause Fires on Farms

A leaky roof can cause fire. That paradox occurs on farms, where weathertight roofing is necessary to keep hay from getting wet. Wet hay, which can ignite spontaneously, is a ranking cause of barn fires.

An economical way to apply new roofing to a barn, as well as any other pitched roof building, is to cover the old material with asphalt shingles. The fire-resistance of asphalt shingles also lessens the danger of flying sparks.

Hay stored in a barn should never have a moisture content of more than 25 percent. Average content of a large quantity of hay should be 20 percent or less.

NON-SKID BATHTUBS ARE LIGHT WEIGHT

So many people have been seriously injured in bathtub falls that the use of tubs with corrugated bottoms becomes a real long range economy.

Enameled pressed steel bathtubs, made somewhat in the same way automobile fenders are stamped out, have such non-skid bottoms. Light enough in weight for one man to handle, they are economical for installation and in colors they cost only about the same as white in heavier cast iron tubs.

SQUEAKING FLOORS

Most floor squeaks are caused by flooring not being nailed firmly to the subfloor, or having worked loose in places. Nailing through the tops of the board is one remedy. Fourpenny finishing nails usually suffice, being countersunk with the nail head holes filled with putty or wood filler.

Trout are closely related to salmon.

Lincoln's Inspired Life Enjoys Rebirth
In Brilliant New Books

There are many miracles about Abraham Lincoln and his legend.

One is that he is beloved by all Americans of whatever political faith. Adlai Stevenson, 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, quoted Lincoln in his speech of concession to General Eisenhower. Earlier in the campaign he had sought communion with Lincoln among historic buildings at Salem, Ill., where young Abe had lived and worked in a store.

Lincoln, too, is a symbol to all the world of the best in the American ideal, standing for high statesmanship, great human compassion, homely simplicity, devotion to a cause.

A never-ending marvel is the way Lincoln appears to enjoy a rebirth within each decade or less. Already there are more than 3800 separate works devoted to his life and his times. One would think there was nothing left to be discovered or written about him, or about the great Civil War through which he brought the nation.

And still, within the last few years, brilliant new studies have come onto the scene to illumine this man.

With all that has been said of him, it probably will surprise many to learn that until last fall there was no single comprehensive yet compact biography of Lincoln by an American. The most reliable one-volume work was a 38-year-old effort by Lord Charnwood of Britain.

But now that gap has been filled, admirably, by the new single-volume study by Benjamin Thomas, a long-time Lincoln scholar, who lives in Springfield, Ill., in continuously close touch with the Lincoln materials.

The Thomas book takes advantage of much new information that had been locked up in various sources only recently made available. It is a balanced, seasoned, real portrait of Lincoln.

Another genuine contribution to the story is the fuller biography, still in progress, by J. G. Randall, who is giving several volumes to Lincoln's years as president. Randall is the first to tackle Lincoln on a broad plane since Carl Sandburg's famous and dramatic presentation.

Then, Kenneth Williams is engaged upon what will probably be ranked as the authoritative version of the Civil War from the Union side. In this work he is matching the fine scholarship of Douglas Southall Freeman's works on Robert E. Lee and the Confederate campaigns.

It is often said history must be rewritten for each generation. If this is so, we in America, and our friends abroad, could hardly be more fortunate in the quality now being given to the re-telling of the Lincoln legend. In these new works, the inspiration of his life and his cause is fresh and vibrant and compelling.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE
Careful Thought Solves Problems

By OSWALD JACOBY

When dummy has a short suit and some trumps, declarer will usually try to make tricks by ruffing in the dummy. The defenders must usually lead trumps in order to prevent dummy from getting these ruffs. In today's hand the task of the defenders was complicated by the fact that the first trump lead had to come from the correct position.

West opened the queen of hearts and was allowed to hold the trick. Instead of continuing blindly with another round of hearts, West gave the matter careful thought. Dummy's short holding in diamonds was an obvious threat.

West did not want to lead the first trump away from his king, so he looked for a way to give his partner the lead. A heart continuation was hopeless, since South evidently did not intend to put up dummy's king.

If East had an entry in diamonds, he would get it whenever declarer led dummy's short suit. West therefore very properly shifted to clubs even though this meant leading away from his king.

East took the second trick with the ace of clubs and saw the indicated defense very promptly. When East shifted to a trump, South could do nothing better than try the finesse of the queen of spades. West won with the king of spades and returned a trump, thus leaving only one trump in dummy.

South could ruff one of his losing diamonds in dummy but still had to lose a diamond in addition to two hearts, two clubs, and a trump. He was therefore set one trick.

If West leads a second heart at trick two, declarer easily makes his contract. Even if West shifts to clubs at the third trick, South will win the first round of spades with the ace instead of trying a finesse.

Now declarer can take the top diamonds, ruff a diamond in dummy and get back to his hand by ruffing a heart. This leaves him in position to ruff his last diamond with dummy's nine of spades, a trick that assures the contract.

CARD SENSE

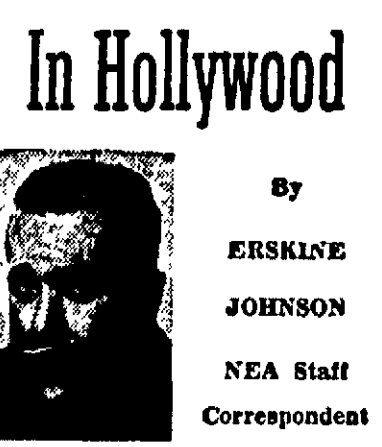

Q—The bidding has been: South 1 Diamond West North East 1 Diamond Pass 1 Heart Pass ?

You, South, hold: Spades 7-8, Hearts K-7-4, Diamonds A-Q-J-5-2, Clubs A-8-2. What do you do?

A—Bid two hearts. You have only 14 points in high cards, but you are entitled to count 1 point extra for the king of your partner's bid suit and 1 point for the doubleton in spades. With a total count of 16 points, you should prefer the encouragement of a raise to such a noncommittal rebid as one no-trump or two diamonds.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades K-J-5, Hearts 7-3, Diamonds A-Q-J-5-2, Clubs A-K-J. What do you do?

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Exclusively Yours: For the first time in entertainment history a star's writer is stepping into the spotlight to impersonate the star.

Jackie Barnett, who has been writing Jimmy Durante's songs and material for 11 years, will play Durante in "The Eddie Cantor Story." Jackie has been doing Durante impersonations at private parties and as a running gag for years, but never expected to put his talents to professional use.

Wearing an elaborate make-up, including the famous Durante nose, the 32-year-old writer will sing a number with Keefe Brasselle, who plays Cantor, and also appear in the plot scenes.

I've just seen Vincent Price's horror make-up for his madman role in "The House of Wax" and I assure you it's the most gruesome ever put on the screen. In color AND in three dimension, Price, I predict, will scare moviegoers not only out of their seats but out of the theaters.

Details of the make-up are top secret and I'm not going to break the hush curtain—but I will tell you that Price is such a revolting creature that he's barred from the studio cafe. There's enough indignation in Hollywood already.

The first horror picture in three dimensions was Warner Bros. idea and should make a fortune.

GLITTER GAIS

Gwen O'Connor, Donald's better half, is embarking on a nitery and theater tour as a SINGLE. Her act has been written by David Holt and Bob Wells. . . . Virginia Mayo's wearing a sarong for the first time in "Sulu Sea" and it's the most lovely see-scape in town.

Barbara Ford, director John Ford's daughter (she was once wed to the late Robert Walker) is retiring as a film editor to be a housewife. Her husband, Ken Curtis, who's one of the Sons of the Pioneers, is leaving the musical group to try for a singing career on his own in TV.

Charles Scott, once Yvonne de Carlo's searing flame, will wed extra-player Doris Burton.

There's more to Lester Cowan's announcement that he will remake "Street Scene," with Mary Murphy and Tom Morton, than meets the eye. Cowan and playwright Elmer Rice are hatching up a whole series of full-length "Street Scene" features, the first to be titled "Street Scene in Italy." The flickers will vary in background, with Rice collaborating with playwrights of various countries on the screenplays.

U-I is searching for a Lucille Ball type to star in the Doris Gilbert screen play, "Miss Private Eye." When the studio first bought the story, Lucy was not considered big box-office. Now they can't afford the salary of the gal that Desi loves.

NO DATES, NO ROMANCE

Gorgeous Phyllis Kirk is denying reports that she will succeed Veronica Lake as the next Mrs. Andre de Toth.

"It's not true that we're having a romance," she told me. "I've never even had a date with him. But I do say he's a great director and he's taught me a great deal. He shouts me down when I need to be shouted down. I'm terribly embarrassed about the romance talk and I'm certain Andre is, too."

Ida Lupino and Collier Young have pulled out of RKO and will procure their flickers independently from now on out. They'll go back to film like "Not Wanted."

You don't get any denials from Dick Haymes that he and wife, Nora, are having domestic grief. "We have a problem," he confided, "and we're trying to work it out. We're going to try—and it's a difficult thing—to be adult about everything. Heaven knows I'm in love with Nora. I'm not really interested in anything else. I just want us to straighten this problem out."

Ben Gage startled the audience by chasing a model down the runway while Esther Williams was narrating a Cole of California swimsuit fashion show at Miami Beach.

"I have permission to chase them," Ben finally quipped, "but not to catch them."

If you read the novel, "Girl on the Via Flaminia," don't be surprised when you see the movie, "Somewhere in the World," with Kirk Douglas. It's the novel's film tag . . . Fox didn't buy anything but the title of Doris Lilly's "How to Marry a Millionaire" for the Betty Grable-Lauren Bacall-Marilyn Monroe remake of "The Greeks Had a Word for It." The studio shelled out $750 for the title.

PETER EDSON'S WASHINGTON NEWS NOTEBOOK

ROBERTS, GOP's OIL CAN MAN, MAKES MACHINE RUN SMOOTHLY

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Out in Kansas where he came from, they call Charles Wesley Roberts, the new Republican National Committee chairman, "an oil can man."

But don't get this wrong. There is no evil connotation meant. What they do mean is that he's a smoothie. He gets things done without friction or fireworks or feudin' and fussin'.

He has a reputation for being able to bring two opposing political factions together and make them pull as a team. In the last presidential campaign he showed his genius for this by making the new and coltish Citizens-for-Eisenhower group of amateurs work in harness with the plodding, elephantine Old Guard, and vice versa.

Everybody now knows the result. And there you have perhaps the best reason as to why he was unanimously chosen Republican National Committee chairman, to succeed Arthur E. Summerfield.

"We's" Roberts is something unusual for a political "boss." The cartoonists will never be able to caricature him as big and beefy, with a high silk hat on his head and a long cigar in his mouth.

Chairman Roberts is about five-feet ten, and he weighs not much more than 150 pounds wringing wet with hard-work perspiration. He is a wiry, quarterback type of man. He runs to grays—gray hair, now thinning at the top as befits his 49 years. Gray-blue eyes. He likes gray clothes.

He is extremely quiet. People who worked with him all through the long campaign and the pre-convention primary fight before that say that he never once lost his temper. And everyone knows there were plenty of good excuses and reasons justifying a political boss in blowing his top.

HEADED "CITIZENS-FOR-EISENHOWER"

That Wes Roberts has survived this past year without a crackup is something of a miracle. He was brought to Washington last January by Kansas Senators Frank Carlson and Harry Darby, as executive director of the Citizens-for-Eisenhower movement.

He has worked day and night ever since. His immediate staff complains protectively that he sat in his office and at his telephone till two and three in the morning and was back again at eight or nine. He ate his meals off a tray at his desk. He lived in the hotels where he made his headquarters and he never left them.

Being a Kansas dry, he never touched hard liquor. But he always had a supply of soft drinks around and he chain-smoked during all his waking hours.

His helpers warned him continually that if he didn't quit this routine he would collapse, but he kept going. With Herbert Brownell at the Conrad Hilton in Chicago and with Arthur Summerfield at the Washington Hotel in the capital thereafter, he lived on politics. He is Mr. Politics, personified.

The whole mad year did come to a climax of confusion at the inauguration, with nearly everyone of the half-million visitors, it seemed, wanting something from GOP national headquarters and the new national chairman.

After that mad, four-day fiesta, Mr. Roberts did collapse, but only slightly. A flu bug got hold of him and kept him in his hotel room for a few days. He kept right on with his politicking, taking long-distance phone calls from all over. Clad in a gray dressing gown and slippers, he saw a constant stream of callers, against doctor's orders.

ONLY THE BEGINNING FOR ROBERTS

He has things to do. The Republican Lincoln Day dinners are coming up. From Feb. 7 to 17, things in Congress will be slowed down so that GOP senators and representatives can get out for victory dinners. There will be everything from box suppers at a buck, to $50 dinners for money-raising purposes.

Mr. Roberts says he isn't sure, but he believes the GOP finances are now a little bit in the red, because of the $3 million limit on campaign expenses. He must appoint a new finance chairman to replace Sinclair Weeks of Massachusetts, now Secretary of Commerce. Then the fund-raising must begin for the '54 campaign.

The big patronage job is still ahead. Mr. Roberts had no part in the naming of the cabinet members nor in their selection of assistants. But all future appointments will be co-ordinated through his office for clearance by the state Republican organizations.

The Citizens-for-Eisenhower organization, now headless because of the appointment of Walter Williams and Mrs. Oswald Lord to other Eisenhower administration positions, will have to be reconstituted, or melded with the regular Republican machine.

Chairman Roberts will keep out of any of the direct relationships between President Eisenhower and the Congress. But even without that, there's plenty of lubricating to be done by the new oil can man.

THE DOCTOR SAYS:
Infection, Allergy or Vitamin Deficiency May Cause Canker Sores; Nothing Cures All Cases

Written for NEA Service
By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Although canker sores do not appear to endanger the health, they are certainly one of man's most annoying afflictions.

Q—I should like to know the cause of canker sores in the mouth. I have them quite often and would like an explanation. H. W.

A—Most people who develop canker sores recover rather promptly and rarely, if ever, have trouble again. There are some, however, in whom the canker sores come back again and again. The reason for such recurrence is not clear. A low-grade infection, possibly with a virus, may be at fault in some cases. In some there is reason to believe that allergy is involved, and perhaps in some there is a vitamin deficiency.

With all this vagueness about canker sores, it is not surprising that too often they prove difficult to treat, even if investigations have been made to try to determine what is at fault in particular instances. There certainly does not seem to be any one cure that works with all who fall victim to this annoying condition.

Q—I have a little 9-year-old girl who grits and grinds her teeth when she is asleep. What can be done for this? Mrs. W. C. M.

A—This is considered to be a habit disorder similar to nightmares and sleepwalking. Too many or too few covers at night, digestive disturbances or anything which may disturb sleep may play a part. More common, perhaps, is nervous tension and anxiety.

A child who has this difficulty should be kept quiet, at least before going to bed, and every effort should be made to find out whether the child is worrying about something which the parents know nothing about. This could be jealousy of a brother or sister, difficulty in school work or with playmates, worry about quarreling between parents, or anything of a similar nature.

Q—When I was young, my tipped womb prevented childbirth. At the age of 60 will that cause heart attacks or clots of blood around the heart? M. M.

A—A tipped uterus will not cause heart attacks or blood clots.

Q—What could cause specks of blood in the sputum upon arising in the morning? R. F.

A—If not already done, an X-ray should be taken of the chest to be sure that there is no disease in that region. It is, however, extremely possible that the blood comes from the sinuses or upper breathing passages and is not a matter of serious or lasting significance.

Homemakers of Lee County, Miss June Pilgrim Relate Views of Farm, Home Week

By JUNE PILGRIM, Home Adviser

This week several Lee County Home Bureau have attended Homemakers' sessions at Farm and Home Week at the University of Illinois. Those in attendance were Mrs. Reginald Rapp, Mrs. Lester Althaus, Mrs. Joseph Engelbrecht, Mrs. James Pierce, Mrs. Irvin Kersten, Mrs. John Warner, Mrs. Fred Durin, Mrs. Clarence Hart, Mrs. Leland Blocher, Mrs. Alvin Kehm, Mrs. Glenn Pfoutz, Mrs. Milton Vaupel, Mrs. Ed Johnson and myself.

June Pilgrim

Much was learned by these members who would like to share some experiences with you. Many homemakers classes were held which delegates will tell you about.

"This is the way we do it for Food Preparation", taught by Mrs. Pearl Janssen, consisted of several short cuts in preparing food. These included two-minute cooked cabbage—Chinese style; fluffy feathered rice; navy beans; peatin jelly—use of jelmeter; custard pie with a crisp crust; and chocolate roll—the sponge type.

If you wish delicious baked navy beans in a short time, try this: Use 1 cup beans to 3 cups of boiling water to which 1 teaspoon of salt has been added. Boil for 2 minutes, remove from heat and let stand 1 hour. Then place in a casserole, adding the seasoning you desire and bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven. The little pea bean is the type most satisfactory for baking. One-eighth of a teaspoon of soda added to 1 cup of beans in the beginning will hasten the cooking of the beans, also. Be careful to use no more soda than this proportion.

Mrs. Alvin Kehm, Compton.

Wrap in cellophane first and then in freezer paper.

To get the best use of your freezer, use it to freeze meats, fruits and vegetables. It is not wise to use too much freezer space for cooked and prepared foods as they are still in their infancy and should be used with discretion.

Rolls are better if baked and then frozen. Research proved that rolls are better made with dry yeast. Pies are best, too, if frozen before making.

Mrs. Lester Althaus, Sublette

Highlighting the Tuesday afternoon session was the talk given by Mrs. Raymond Sayer, president of A.C.W.W., Assoc. Country Women of the World. Last fall she visited Africa and India, about which she pictured to us the conditions of the women in these countries. Her trip to Africa was the most exciting one, she said, even though Africa is as primitive as any country which she has visited. We learned that the progress of a country or its level of civilization Concentrated frozen coffee is now on the market, as well as coffee bags similar to tea bags. Most of us did not like the taste of these products, though.

Frozen shrimp already dipped in batter is ready to french-fry. Packaged products have several new items on the list. Hush-puppy mix, powdered cream called Pream, cream of rice cereal, and several kinds of these spreads in tube containers. These can be used in decorative ways very easily.

In pie fillings there is the ready-to-use cherry, apple and blueberry; now new varieties of cake mixes are also being added to the dessert list, one of the most recent being the fruit cake mix. These products were all shown to us and sampled by the class.

"Special Food Diets Prepared in the Home"

The important thing about the soft diet prepared in the home is to have it attractive, tasty, and at the same time one that will not hurt the digestive tract.

A typical soft diet does not use fried foods—nor food with roughage. One should consider baby foods. They can be used to an excellent advantage, especially the meats. These are vital for good nutrition. Delightful casserole dishes can be made from these canned foods, also. Vegetable custards are particularly good also for the soft diet user.

For years the patient has been fed only for spot needing attention, losing nutrition oftentimes which was so needed for body balance. The trend now is to use foods beneficial to the whole body. Orange juice and other juices necessary for nutrition are now recommended for ulcer patients.

Care needs to be taken to dilute them, and they should be given in small quantities several times a day. They can be given after other foods are in the stomach and cause no discomfort to patient.

Another nice food hint is to place toasted bread on plate, cut into easy eating cubes, arrange to former shape and cover with creamed sauce.

Mrs. Fred Durin, Steward

"Storage Space"

Are you in need of storage space for sports equipment, card tables, record player, linen, sewing equipment, chore clothes, etc.? If so, you are the one who missed an interesting lesson on "Using Household Storage Space Efficiently" written by Helen McCullough and given by Mrs. Mary Farnham at Farm and Home Week.

She illustrated the lesson by slides designed for different equipment, which (1) be easy to see, (2) easy to reach, (3) easy to grasp. Before starting to build a storage unit, one must determine the size of articles to be stored. These dimensions are adjusted to modular measurements. Any number that can be divided by 4 is a modular measure. Most storage units are 4, 8, 12, 16, 20 and 24 inches in depth, and up to 7 feet in width. This permits a shelf to be placed 72 inches above the floor. This places equipment within easy reach for the woman of average height. The overall height of the units may be altered as desired in order to adapt them to ceiling heights. When one type of storage requires less than the full height of the wall, two kinds may be placed one above the other. A bedding unit, for example, may be placed above a luggage unit. The width of a storage unit is determined in some instances by the width of the largest articles to be stored or by the number of articles to be stored.

I would advise anyone wishing to build in such storage units to purchase the book "Space Design for Household Storage," by sending $1.25 to University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois, or to see the copy

Broken Up In Half Hour By Tear Gas

Guards Prepare To Move Inmates Out of Cell Blocks

FLORENCE, Ariz.—The Arizona State Prison seethed with tension as prison officials prepared today to move rebellious convicts "with force if necessary" from their cell blocks.

Armed guards, their ranks doubled, were ordered to use tear gas and, if necessary, guns to quell a third uprising.

Cursing, defiant convicts seized a guard during the night. But a tear-gas barrage forced them to release him minutes later.

Prison officials said guards would ask the inmates to move into the yard from two cell blocks. The gate-door to one cell block remained unlocked after convicts challenged guards to lock it.

The guard seizure provided a new, if temporary, crisis after two days of sit-down strikes, first in protest of an alleged beating of one convict and then in demand for better food and clothing.

Some 400 convicts have been participating in the uprising.

Warden Lon E. Walters, after the disturbances had been quelled earlier Friday night, said "We're sitting on a powder keg and anything could happen." It was barely two hours later when the new trouble broke out.

Itching Wallet a Symptom of Current 'Epidemic,' Boyle Says

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK —(AP)—A powerful epidemic is reaching across America now, affecting millions of households.

It is spread by men's clothing stores and carried into the home by newspapers. It is called "the semi-annual clearance sales fever."

Symptoms: An itching in the wallet; accompanied by a delirious male urge to buy . . . buy . . . buy.

Treatment: The wise wife will let her little man enjoy the fever until it runs its course, and his wardrobe is re-stocked. It is the only known cure.

Since women do most of the buying today, special sales are held for them all over the calendar. But men get to exercise their hunting instincts only twice a year—during the storewide winter clearance, and the summer clearance held sometime after the fourth of July.

The morning he opens his paper and reads, "Sale! Men's suits, shirts, shoes marked down!"—well, a wild look comes into his eyes.

Off he sprints for the store, jammed with other bargain hunters. They wave checkbooks and wallets, paw through shirt stacks, burrow into stock piles, and play tug-of-war with each other when they grab the same special-priced necktie.

They are swept up in a group dance of swirling madness.

"Men are always kidding women about their shopping behavior," one salesman said. "But I wish sometimes that we had a spectators' gallery here during our men's sales, so wives could see how their husbands act."

"They'd really get a laugh. It's like watching a bunch of kids who've been turned loose in a candy store and told they could have all they wanted for a penny."

But he added men barely got into hair-pulling tussles or tongue-lashing duels, as women sometimes have been known to do when two wanted the same piece of apparel.

"There is a kind of unwritten sportsman's code in such situations," he said. "If two men want the same shirt, they usually toss a coin—and it is a matter of honor for the loser to grin and take defeat like a man, chin up."

"That's pretty hard sometimes, too, particularly if it's a green shirt. For some reason a man with a passion for a green shirt can hardly stand the thought of losing one."

A man who shows up with his wife at a semi-annual clearance sale is not only regarded as henpecked by his fellow male bargain seekers. They feel he is stretching their chivalry too far.

"Anybody who brings his wife along at a time like this," I once heard one grumble, "is like an Indian who'd drag his squaw with him on a buffalo hunt."

THE LINCOLN COUNTRY

Sketched on the Spot by Ralph Lane

NO. 1—THE OLD MILL

Abraham Lincoln's first view of New Salem, Ill., was its grist mill located on the Sangamon River. Lincoln, then a lanky youth of 21, was employed by Denton Offutt to help float a boat of trade goods to New Orleans. The boat stuck fast on the mill dam. Offutt liked New Salem and opened a trading post there and later Lincoln joined him. After much research the mill was re-created in 1941 with flawless authenticity on its original site. And since the river had changed its course, the rebuilders dug a pond and pumped Sangamon River water into it.

Dukes Top Hall, 64-58: Visit Galesburg

Dixon Climbs to Fourth Place Tie

Jerry Curran, Larry Lund Display Best Ball in Leading Team to Win

The Dixon Dukes, fresh from one of their best games of the season last night when they defeated Hall Township, 64-58, left town about 3 p. m. this afternoon to keep a date with the Silver Streaks at Galesburg tonight.

Coach Lon Scofield, pleased with the way his Dukes played last night, planned to start the same line-up tonight with Jerry Curran and Jim Gorman at forwards, Larry Lund at center and Jim DeYoung and Jack Munson at guards.

The Dukes were hard pressed by Hall from start to finish, and anything less than a top notch performance might have reversed the decision last night.

By winning, the Dukes climbed back to the .500 mark with a 3-3 conference record. Hall Township dropped below the mark with a 2-3 record.

Rebounds to Points
Jerry Curran and Larry Lund were the wheelhorses in the Dixon victory as Curran topped the scoring with 21 points and Lund turned several rebounds into two pointers for the Dukes.

In addition to his high scoring, Curran played one of his best defensive games of the season as he cleared the defensive board nine times and the offensive board twice to lead his mates in this department.

Lund, who turned at least three of his six offensive rebounds into field goals, followed Curran closely in the scoring column with 19 points.

Gorman, DeYoung and Munson, while not leading in either the scoring or rebounding departments, nevertheless proved their worth with some smooth floor play and defensive work.

Stuart Troublesome
The biggest problem for the Dukes and one that ended only with the fouling out of Jerry Stuart, was how to keep Stuart from scoring. The Red Devils came up with 27 points for the season by 27 points for a season high of 33 points.

The Dukes raced off to a quick 8-2 lead and Lund scored twice and Curran and DeYoung each chipped in a field goal. But the margin was short lived and Hall closed the gap to 8-6 before Gorman scored on a free throw and Lund and Munson added field goals to give the Dukes a 13-9 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Stuart scored on a free throw and Gorman sank a set shot from the side as the second period opened. But trouble set in for the Dukes at this point as the Devils produced three quick baskets to take a 16-15 lead.

Dukes Let Up
Lund then scored on a rebound and Gorman added a lay-up for a 19-16 Dixon lead. Though they were tied 25-25 late in the second quarter, the Dukes were never behind again. Dixon held a 30-26 lead at the intermission.

After being ahead by nine points once during the third quarter, the Dukes let up a bit of hold a 44-38 advantage at the end of the period.

In the fourth canto, the Red Devils came on with a rush and cut the Dixon lead to 54-53 with 2:25 left to be played. But Lund connected on two free throws for Dixon before Bill McAdams scored on a weird shot from behind the basket.

Gorman added a free throw with 1:15 left to give the Dukes a two point lead and Jerry Curran tallied on a lay-up after being left open under the basket.

Gorman missed two free throws, but Lund converted the last into a basket and added a free throw to send the Dukes safely out in front, 62-55 with 20 seconds remaining.

Frosh-Sophs Deal 47-29 Loss to Hall

After a close first quarter, the Dixon freshmen-sophomore five took the situation in hand and dealt the Hall Township underclassmen a 47-29 defeat last night.

Led by Max Akerman who turned in 13 points for the evening's work, the Dukes took a 8-6 lead at the end of the first period and stretched it into a 24-13 halftime margin.

With his team leading 37-23 going into the final period, Dixon coach Lloyd Swan began inserting his substitutes freely as he used his entire squad of 16 men. The reserves were able to hold the lead presented them and outscore the visitors 10-6 in the final period.

Manlius Upsets Bulldogs, 55-48

MANLIUS—(Special)—The Manlius Red Devils took over sole possession of first place in the Little Eight conference last night with a surprise victory over a decidedly cold Ohio five.

The Devils caught up with the Bulldogs in the second period, battled even in the third and then went on to roll up a 55-48 victory in the final.

It was the seventh straight conference victory for Manlius and the first loss in seven starts for Ohio. In addition, the loss snapped the Bulldogs' 10 game winning streak. Ohio now has a 16-3 record for the season.

The Bulldogs were quite cold last night from the shooting standpoint as they hit only 22 percent of their shots. And, they were getting some good ones against the loose man to man defense thrown up by the Red Devils.

Ohio opened with a 15-10 lead at the end of the first period but after leading most of the second period, faltered and trailed 23-25 at halftime.

Ohio bounced back into the lead in the third period but again trailed at the end of the quarter. With six minutes remaining in the finale, the score was tied, but T. J. Anderson fouled out and with him went the Ohio steady influence. Manlius quickly took an eight point lead and won handily thereafter. Ohio now will be gunning for a shot at the Red Devils in the District tournament.

Manlius made the evening complete with a 44-21 verdict in the B team game.

Lee Center Loses Tilt To Steward

Ronnie Macklin Gets Winning Point In Final 10 Seconds

LEE CENTER—(Special)—A 16 point third quarter spelled the margin of victory last night as Steward won its second ball game of the season, defeating Lee Center in a close one, 44-43.

With 10 seconds remaining and the score tied at 43-all, Ronnie Macklin of Steward sank a free throw for the margin of victory. Lee Center had three shots at the basket, two of them tip ins, but the ball wouldn't drop in and Steward had the victory.

Lee Center outscored Steward in every period but the third. The losers led 13-12 at the end of the first period and 24-20 at halftime. But Steward racked up 16 points to eight for Lee Center in the third and held on through a nip and tuck final period.

Lee Center, which now has a 4-10 season record with four games to play, was hurt considerably by the loss of its big guns, Jack Baylor and Wilson who fouled out after playing only half the game.

Both teams made 14 field goals, but Steward made 15 free throws to 14 for Lee Center.

Larry Moore with 14 points was high for Lee Center while Dale Wienrich with 13 topped Steward's scoring.

In the preliminary game, Lee Center came out on top of a 26-21 score.

WHAT'S the SCORE?

By NORM JOLLOW

DIXON COACH LON SCOFIELD had nothing but good words to dole out for the play of Larry Lund and Jerry Curran after last night's Dixon victory over Hall Township which moved the Dukes back into the first division of the North Central conference with a 3-3 record.

Lund "has been steadily improving," Scofield said and he is "justifying the fact that we stayed with him since we brought him up as a sophomore last year."

LARRY PLAYED aggressive ball last night, using his height to advantage, something he often has not done. More games like that, and Lund will have sewed up the center position that fell his when Karl Olsen went out of action with his fractured arm.

Olsen now seems relegated to a second team berth if Lund continues as he did last night. Larry evidently liked the idea of being a starter and has decided that if Olsen gets the job, he is going to have to play plenty of ball to do it. Lund isn't going to give it away.

JERRY CURRAN'S brightest light last night was not the 21 points he scored, but rather the way he cleared the boards for the Dukes, especially on defense where he copped nine missed Red Devil shots. Curran got himself into position and refused to be taken out under the boards and it paid off in many ways, collectively and individually.

CURRAN'S rebounding helped the Dukes to victory and at the same time showed what the soft shooting forward can do if he wants to.

Not to be forgotten, in what was another team victory for the Dukes, was the play of Jim Gorman who served as an assistant in the rebounding department as well as playing smooth ball and keeping the Dukes in the game when the game got close.

JIM DEYOUNG contributed some timely floor play and on several occasions was alert as he grabbed up loose balls from the outstretched hands of the Red Devils.

JACK MUNSON served the Dukes well in bringing the ball over the midcourt line when Hall went into a press in the second half and added a pair of pretty long set shots, the kind that go high before swishing the nets.

The consensus taken after the game seemed to be that the Dukes last night could have given Sterling and West Rockford more than a little trouble.

Amboy coach Larry Martens is scouting around for a game to complete his schedule this year. Newman of Sterling found itself overscheduled last week and had to cancel its game with Amboy this season. Martens, therefore is looking for a game during the last week in February or on Saturday, Feb. 21.

FREDDIE YODER got a "thrill of a lifetime shot" last night for Mt. Morris in a game against Oregon. A second before the final gun went off, Yoder let go a shot from mid court at the sidelines that went through the hoop without touching a thing. The ball was in the air as the gun went off.

Gain Sixth Victory; Prepare for Game With Rival Mendota

AMBOY—(Special)—The Amboy Clippers are set for their tilt with long-time rival Mendota Tuesday night after having disposed of Marquette of Ottawa last night, 62-53.

It was the sixth Clipper victory against nine losses but it required some strong staying power in the last four minutes to gain it.

Marquette took an early lead in the contest, pulling out to a 19-14 margin at the close of the first period. However, the Clippers bounded right back to knot the count at 26-all at halftime and then went on to garner a six point lead at the end of the third quarter, 46-40.

Marquette whittled the Clipper lead to two points at the midway mark in the final period before a flurry of Amboy baskets changed the complexion of the game back in favor of the Clippers.

Jim Montavon with 21 points on nine baskets and three free throws topped the Amboy scoring while Miller of Marquette with seven baskets and three free throws for 17 points was high for Marquette.

Amboy made 25 field goals to 20 for Marquette, but the Ottawa crew collected 13 of 25 free throws to 12 of 27 for the Clippers.

Marquette gained consolation in the preliminary game, winning 61-42.

Knockin' 'Em Down

By STEVE NAGY
Bowler-of-the-Year
I think bowlers are a great deal like golfers.

A bowler averaging 160 is a great deal like a golfer who shoots in the 90's.

A golfer in the 90's would be very happy to chop 10 strokes off his game, and a bowler averaging 160 would be quite happy to add 10 pins to his game.

If the golfer has a weakness he will go out and practice that one shot for an hour at a time, either on the course or at a driving range.

Yet bowlers seldom practice one specific phase of their game which is robbing them of at least 10 pins a game.

In short, in your practice sessions, practice turning in the spares, which are most difficult for you.

If you can pick up that one extra spare a game, you have accomplished your purpose of adding 10 points to your score.

OLSON VS. SHAY-PUNCH
BOSTON (AP)—Hawaiian-born brawler now based in San Francisco, will be a top-heavy favorite to defeat Boston middleweight Norman Hayes for the second time in their nationally televised 10-round boxing bout tonight at the Boston Garden.

The fight will start at 8 p. m. (CST).

Ashton Aces Hold on, Win 54-50 Contest at Byron

BYRON—(Special)—The Ashton Aces pulled up even both on their season record and in conference play last night as they squeaked past Byron, 54-50.

The victory gave the Aces a 6-6 mark in the Route 72 conference and a 9-9 season mark.

The Aces jumped out to an 18-11 lead at the end of the first period and added a point at halftime when they led 31-23.

However, Byron came back strong in the third period, caught the Aces and then passed them, 43-42.

For the first three or four minutes of the final period, the contest was nip and tuck with the lead changing hands several times until the Aces were able to grab a three point lead at the three minute mark.

Waterman in 70-59 Victory At Pawpaw

PAWPAW—(Special)—After running off to a 21-7 lead in the first period, the Pawpaw Bulldogs were unable to keep up the pace against the tall and fast breaking Waterman five dropping a 70-59 Little Ten conference game.

Waterman recoiled after the bad first period and knotted the count at 26-all at halftime as the Bulldogs were able to score only five points to 19 for Waterman.

League leading Waterman then took a four point 47-43 lead at the end of the third period and increased it in the final canto by collecting 23 points to 16 for the Bulldogs.

It was the seventh loss of the season for Pawpaw against nine wins and the fifth conference setback as compared to four wins. It was the eighth loop win against one setback for the league leading Waterman five.

Waterman also took the preliminary game, stopping the Bulldogs, 47-32.

Pawpaw will be at home to Franklin Grove Tuesday in a non-conference game.

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD—Desi Arnaz today disclosed the background on one of the happiest coincidences in recent history—the birth of his and Lucille Ball's son in real life and on their television show.

The Arnaz family made the front pages last month when Lucille gave birth to Desiderio Alberto Arnaz IV. The night before fans had watched the "I Love Lucy" show, on which the TV counterparts of Lucille and Desi also had a baby boy.

"There was a lot of talk that we had spent some time guessing whether to have a girl or boy on the show," said Desi in his Cuban-tinged English. "Also there were reports that we might have had two endings to the show, one in case ours was a girl and the other for a boy."

"Actually, there was never any question about it; the baby on the show was going to be a boy. And for an important personal reason. That reason was Lucie, our daughter. Of course, she is too young—1½ now—to know the difference. But if we stay on the air for three or four years, Lucie might start wondering why she wasn't portrayed on the show. We could tell her 'well, the part called for a boy; you're a girl.'"

Desi wanted to clear up a misconception: That the Caesarean birth was planned and timed to coincide with the TV show. The truth is that Lucille can have babies only by Caesarean section, and the timing was decreed by the doctor.

The fame of their new sons has amazed Lucille and Desi. They have received about 1,000 telegrams, 25,000 cards and letters and hundreds of gifts for the baby.

Among the gifts was an infant-size St. Louis Browns uniform sent by Bill Veeck, operator of the ball club.

"If the boy shows any possibilities at all, send him around this year," said Veeck. "We're desperate."

Moslems, who made the pilgrimage to Mecca required by their religion, used to pay a heavy tax for the privilege, but oil revenues have increased sufficiently in Arabia so that the tax has been dropped.

4-Year-Olds Play on Rails; Train Halted

Yonkers, N. Y.—A New York Central electric train ground to an unscheduled halt Friday near here. Reason: Two 4-year-old boys sitting between the rails, playing contentedly.

The engineer stopped his train 10 feet from them. They looked up curiously and went on playing. A conductor scooped them up onto the train and deposited them with police at the next station.

The boys, Robert Herbst and Robert Fleet Jr., had wandered away from their home, about 100 feet from the railroad tracks.

Murdered Man Not Left-Handed; Friend Is Booked

LOS ANGELES—James Lowry, 44, was jailed early today on suspicion of murdering his friend, Joseph L. Sanders, 30.

Sanders was found dead in a chair in Lowry's home, a bullet hole in his left temple, a revolver in his left hand.

Sheriff's deputies found some discrepancies in the accounts given by Lowry and his wife. But the main reason Lowry was booked, they said: Sanders was right-handed.

Tugboat Strike Eases as Both Sides Near Solution

NEW YORK—The tugboat strike relaxed its grip on the world's largest port today amid signs strikers and employers were approaching agreement without need of government proposed arbitration.

Representatives of both sides in the wage dispute said Friday night in separate statements that progress was being made in negotiations scheduled to continue this afternoon.

The improved prospects of a settlement in the wage and contract dispute came as the Federal Mediation Service in Washington asked that the crippling strike, in its seventh day, be called off pending arbitration.

However, the government suggestion was put aside, at least temporarily, as a result of employer objections. The union, while expressing misgivings, had accepted the federal proposal.

Involved in the dispute are 3,500 tugboat crewmen, members of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association, and their employers, grouped in the Marine Towing and Transportation Employers Association.

Signs pointing to a possible agreement were not only reflected in the failure of the government arbitration plea but also in an ILA statement Friday night that settlement was near enough to permit the postponement of picketing.

There were reports that ILA officials also considered posting of pickets futile since the National Labor Relations Board's New York office announced last night that it was ready to seek a Federal Court injunction to bar picketing under the Taft-Hartley Labor Act.

Picket lines of the tugboat men on Thursday had resulted in a tie-up of 75 per cent of the Port of New York as non-striking AFL longshoremen refused to cross the lines.

Clare Luce Gets Ike's Nod as New Envoy to Italy

WASHINGTON—Clare Boothe Luce is the Eisenhower administration's choice for ambassador to Italy, a responsible official says.

This official said the United States had already complied with the protocol of obtaining the Italian government's approval of the prospective appointment.

Mrs. Luce is a playwright, former congresswoman from Connecticut and wife of Henry R. Luce, editor-in-chief of Time, Life and Fortune. She is a convert to the Roman Catholic faith.

Body Armor Soon Available for Use By Cops, Hunters

PHILADELPHIA—The hunter, the bank guard and the bandit-chasing policeman will soon get a chance to wear body armor similar to the type now protecting Marine and Army personnel fighting in Korea.

Armor Specialties Corp., affiliated with L. W. Foster Sportswear, Inc., of Philadelphia, disclosed Friday it has started a production on a lightweight armored vest "for the civilian."

Howard S. Foster, production manager, said the vest "will stop all buckshot pellets, and most low velocity shells and bullets."

Letters Banned By China Reds, North Koreans

PANMUNJOM, Korea—UN postal officers today said the North Korean and Chinese Communists stopped their people from writing Red prisoners of war in U. N. camps seven months ago.

These officers said they were given no explanation why families of Red prisoners had to stop writing.

From Dec. 3, 1951, when the first prisoner of war mail was exchanged here, until last July, the Reds turned over to Allied postal officers 36,000 letters for delivery to Communist prisoners held on Koje Island and in other UN POW camps.

Since July, no mail has come through for Allied-held prisoners.

Ike Dines With Supreme Justices

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower had the nine justices of the U. S. Supreme Court to lunch Friday at the White House.

Only comment afterwards came from Chief Justice Vinson, who called the get-acquainted session "very nice."

Senate and House Republican leaders attended similar affairs earlier this week.

In 1952, Colombia and Venezuela settled a border dispute about which they had been negotiating for 122 years.

Ship Carries Disputed Oil From Iran

PORT SAID, Egypt—The Italian tanker Mirrella and her cargo of British-claimed Iranian oil passed through the Suez Canal Friday night without interference.

The ship carried 4,500 tons of oil purchased from Iran's nationalized oil industry and loaded at the Iranian oil center of Abadan.

It steamed past Port Said without dropping anchor and entered the Mediterranean, reportedly headed for Genoa, Italy.

Britain declared an economic blockade against Iranian oil sales last year after Iran nationalized the holdings of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company in Iran. Legal action was threatened against foreigners trading in the disputed oil before British claims against Iran were settled.

Judge Urged to Admit Press to Jelke Vice Trial

NEW YORK—New York City editors have urged Judge Francis L. Valente to permit press coverage of all testimony in the cafe society vice trial of margarine heir Minot F. Jelke III.

The General Sessions Court judge Friday had threatened to exclude newsmen and the public during the testimony of the first witness, 19-year-old Pat Ward.

Work Level Record Highest in History

WASHINGTON—Employment in the United States reached its highest January level on record last month—60,524,000.

This was about 750,000 above January, 1952, but about a million under December, 1952. Secretary of Commerce Weeks reported Friday. The seasonal decline is usual.

The number of unemployed was estimated at 1,892,000.

Courthouse Messenger Hides 13,000 Letters, Faces Prison

MIAMI, Fla.—Charles W. Lewis, 32, who admitted hiding more than 13,000 letters in the Dade County courthouse basement, faces at least a year in prison.

Federal District Judge C. C. Wyche Friday sentenced Lewis to three years in prison and recommended that he be paroled at the end of one year. The letters were addressed to Dade County officers.

Lewis' attorney said he had made countless loans from small loan companies to augment his $275 monthly salary to pay medical expenses for his wife and in an effort to catch up made bets with bookies and lost.

Lewis was a messenger in the county tax collector's office and admitted rifling the letters of small
